2014 Program Schedule

April 3rd | Harvey Meyer

This demo is called "Mosaics on Wood" (aka: basket illusion). Each "mosaic" piece takes a long time to complete. Therefore, in this session, I'll demonstrate and explain all of the steps while completing only a few. I'll start out by explaining the overall process and show how I design the "mosaic" pattern using polar graph paper. Then I start by turning a small dish/platter, about 6" diameter. While turning the small dish, I cover both sides with 1/8" beads from rim to center. I also burn the valley between each bead using paper backed sandpaper. After that is complete, I will show how to index the piece using my degree wheel in order to divide the platter into as many segments needed for the pattern I'm using. In this demo, 48 segments are required. Then I'll start burning the radial lines over each bead. Normally this takes many hours, but I'll only do a small portion to show the technique. Then I'll switch to a prepared piece that has all of the burning finished and I'll show how I dye the mosaic pattern into the wood. The dying/coloring phase will only be partly completed as it also takes many hours for completion. Finally, I'll discuss how to finish the piece and fix the colors.

Mark your calendar NOW for each month's program
